

Update 6th July 2010

Moorfields – access. It looks as though Crossrail are going to include escalators as part of the access to the estate from the east if they need to move the current escalators: “We've requested the City's escalator specifications so that we can finalise the design for highwalk access in the event that we need to alter close the existing access.”

Farringdon: In July Crossrail are digging a borehole in Hayne Street. Hours of work are the usual 8-6 weekdays and 9-1 on Saturdays. More information at: www.crossrail.co.uk/near-you/works/farringdon-east-ticket-hall

The Crossrail working group are meeting Crossrail on 14 July to hear about Crossrail's application to dig a small borehole over a fortnight near the GSMD.

These have gone out to several residents across the estate. We have asked the City for information on its own response to the Crossrail letter and its advice to long leaseholders.
